GRANT UNIVERSITY.

GENERAL STATEMENT.

The University is the successor of the East Tennessee Wesleyan College that was established in 1867 on the grounds of the Athens Female College. In 1889 the name of the institution, which in 1869 had assumed the title of university, was changed to U. S. Grant University. The management of the university is committed to a Board of Trustees consisting of twenty-one members. The institution seeks to develop sound scholarship, higher learning, and Christian culture. It comprises the following departments:

I. The COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS, offering three courses of study, leading respectively to degrees in Arts, Philosophy, and Science, and is open to both sexes.

II. The SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY, providing training for candidates for the ministry, and leading to the degree of S. T. B. Course three years.

III. The SCHOOL OF MEDICINE, requiring in every scholastic exaction the conditions of the Southern Medical Association. Leading to the degree of M. D. Course four years.

IV. The SCHOOL OF LAW, presenting a thorough course of study covering two years, and designed to give training for the practice of law. Leading to the degree of LL. B.

V. The PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT is designed to fit young men and young women for college, either for the Classical, Philosophical, or Scientific course. Students are admitted to advanced standing upon examination.

VI. The BUSINESS DEPARTMENT is a complete and thoroughly equipped commercial school.

VII. DEPARTMENTS OF MUSIC, ART and ELOCUTION are also maintained and are under the care of accomplished directors. Full courses are offered and diplomas granted.

The schools are one corporation, have one President, who has general charge, each of the departments having a dean in more immediate charge.

LOCATION.

Athens, the seat of the Liberal Arts and Preparatory Departments of the University, and of the associated departments of Music, Art and Elocution, is situated on the main line of the Southern Railway, and midway between Knoxville and Chattanooga. It is a thriving village of 2,000 inhabitants. Its citizens are cultured and refined, and by their generous hospitality, add much to the comfort and pleasure of student-life in their midst. It has an altitude of nearly one thousand feet above sea level, and enjoys a climate unsurpassed by any on the continent. To our patrons in this immediate section, these are unnecessary statements; but they are made for the information of students in the North who are seeking a milder climate where they can prosecute their college course.

Chattanooga, the seat of the professional schools, Theology, Medicine, Law, and of the Business College, is one of the most thriving cities of the South. It possesses the same climatic advantages as those enumerated above. Besides, it has many attractions of a historical character. This city is a favorable location for such schools. According to the report of the Surgeon General of the United States, Chattanooga is one of the healthiest cities in the nation. Chattanooga is called "The Gateway of the South," as nearly all the great lines of railroads connecting the North with the far South pass through it. The great battlefields of Chickamauga, Mission Ridge and Lookout Mountain attract visitors from all over the nation, so that the students are brought into contact with people from every part of the country.

GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS.

The campus at Athens embraces about twenty acres. Upon it are situated the Main Building, Chapel, Bennett Hall, Ritter Home, Hatfield Hall, and a number of cottages for the accommodation of those desiring to board themselves.

BENNETT HALL is for young ladies. Everything is furnished except bed linen and towels, and the cost is $2.50 per week when two occupy the same apartment. Ladies boarding here will come under the supervision of the Matron and Preceptress. It is our constant purpose to make this a safe and attractive home for girls.

RITTER INDUSTRIAL HOME is a beautiful building, perfect in all its appointments, and is capable of accommodating more than fifty girls. [See full description on another page.]

HATFIELD HALL is for young men. It is provided with stoves and heavy furniture. A boarding club is conducted here on the co-operative plan at a cost of about one dollar per week for each individual. Staple articles of provisions may be turned in at market value, a cook employed, and the cost of living reduced to a nominal sum.

Those desiring to board themselves may find suitable accommodation in the cottages near by. These are supplied with stoves and heavy furniture, and are rented at 50 cents per month for each occupant.

Ladies are expected to board at Ritter Home or Bennett Hall.

PARKER COLLEGE, ATHENS, TENN.

Early in the spring of 1897, Mr. James Parker, of Chicago, expended a considerable sum of money on the interior of this building. Before it may be occupied, however, it will be necessary to expend at least five thousand dollars on furniture and equipment. It is earnestly hoped that some friend or friends of Christian Education may furnish the University with this amount, so that the building may be ready for occupancy.

Young men may secure private board, including furnished room and fuel, at a cost ranging from $2.00 to $3.00 per week.

Parker College is well represented by the cut introduced on the opposite page. For architectural beauty it can hardly be equalled by any institution of learning in the South. It has a chapel with a capacity of seating 600 persons. It has, besides, a spacious parlor, office, laboratories, recitation rooms, society halls and library.

This splendid building was originally erected and partially completed by the "Athens Town Company" at a cost of $42,000, and was afterwards purchased by the University, the money being advanced by the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The financial crisis came and thus it remained in an unfinished condition for several years.

The University Building at Chattanooga, the home of the professional schools, is a handsome brick and stone edifice of modern design and pleasing architectural finish. It is situated almost in the centre of Chattanooga, every way convenient for patrons, and within easy distance of the two depots, where ten railroads discharge all of their passenger travel. The elevation is one of the highest in the city, overlooking the entire city, and the building by its prominence is one of the first to greet the eye from every direction. The campus embraces almost the whole square between McCallie, Baldwin, Oak and Douglas streets, and just north, across Oak street, an entire square extending from Oak to Vine streets. Electric cars pass through this campus on Oak street every few minutes. Rapid transit is readily afforded to every section of the city and outlying suburbs; and students can board wherever they please in the bounds of this territory. Every room is splendidly lighted both by day and night. Heating apparatus is sufficient, ventilation perfect, water everywhere abundant, and numerous stairways, corridors and balconies insure ready ingress and exit.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS.

The aim of the college is to give that liberal education which is the true preparation for the study of a learned profession, or for a life devoted to letters or public affairs. Accordingly the University provides instruction in those branches of literature, science and philosophy termed the Liberal Arts.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must present certificates from reputable schools, or take a preliminary examination on entrance. In every instance testimonials of good moral character must be furnished.

For the scholastic requirements, see course of study as printed in the collegiate preparatory department.

COURSES OF STUDY.

There are three courses of study provided in this department—the Classical, the Philosophical and the Scientific. The Classical course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. It covers four years, and is designed to afford opportunity for acquiring a good general knowledge of a wide range of subjects, embracing ancient and modern languages, mathematics, history, natural science, literature and philosophy. The Philosophical and Scientific courses are also arranged for four years, and lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Philosophy and Bachelor of Science, respectively. The aim, in all these courses, is general rather than special culture, and a symmetrical and carefully graduated development, rather than the exhaustive investigation of a few subjects to the neglect of others equally important.

RECITATIONS AND EXAMINATIONS.

Each student must have not less than fifteen nor more than twenty recitations per week, except by special permission of the Faculty. A record is kept by each professor, showing the grade of each student's daily work; and this, together with the result of a thorough written examination at the end of the term, must show an average of at least 70 in the scale of 100 before the student can be passed in any study. A student desiring examination in any subject other than at the hour of class examination is required to make application to the Faculty. If request is granted a fee of one dollar per recitation-hour will be charged.

It is very important that students enter classes at the beginning of the term, and keep in mind that constant, prompt attendance is necessary for the attainment of high grades. Students must not leave classes, nor take up new studies, except upon written approval of the proper officers.

Candidates for degrees will not be permitted to pursue studies in advance of their class, nor will anyone be allowed to take studies for which he is not duly prepared.

Students in the University will not be permitted to take lessons from anyone outside the Faculty, except by express permission.

Students over nineteen years of age not candidates for degrees may pursue studies in any department for which they are prepared. Certificates showing the amount and grade of work done by them will be given upon application to the Dean of the Department. Candidates for degrees will, in certain cases, be permitted to substitute work or select studies from other departments.

All substitutions and selections must be of such character as shall not lower the grade of scholarship and culture. The approval of the Faculty, however, must be had in every such instance.

ESSAYS AND ORATIONS.

In addition to the regular class work, each student in the Fourth Preparatory year will be required to submit two original essays; one at the close of the fall, and one at the close of the winter term. Also one oration of 1,000 to 1,200 words will be required at the close of the spring term.

Students in College classes will be required to deliver an oration of 1,000 to 1,500 words for each of the four college years, at such times as may be announced in the calendar.

LIBRARY.

Besides the libraries of the literary societies referred to elsewhere, the college library is open to all students. Many papers and magazines will be placed regularly upon the reading stand, and will be at their disposal. Every incentive will be used to inspire our students to seek a general information from these and other sources which the curriculum does not comprehend.

LECTURES.

These constitute a very interesting and valuable feature of college life. Eminent speakers are engaged to address our students on social and literary topics during the year. The professors are frequently heard in "Friday morning chapel talks," and in some of the departments the lecture constitutes a part of the regular class work.

Besides numerous informal addresses by visiting friends the following speakers were heard during the session of 1898–'99: Rev. Manley S. Hard, D. D., "John Wesley and His Times;" W. S. Frost, attorney-at-law, (1) "The Temptation of Macbeth;" (2) "The Temptation of Job;" Rev. L. E. Prentiss, D. D., "How to Succeed;" Rev. W. A. Spencer, D. D., "Providential America;" Rev. G. E. Ackerman, D. D., "The Elements of Success;" Rev. R. J. Cooke, D. D., "Methodism in the Centuries," Bishop D. A. Goodsell, LL. D., "Six Months in Rome;" F. L. Mansfield, Esq., "Reminiscences;" Hon. A. A. Taylor, "Life's Poetry and Pearls;" Rev. Edmund M. Mills, D. D., "The Age in Which We Live."

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

At Athens there are four literary societies organized under the laws of the University—the Athenian and Philomathean, for gentlemen; the Sapphonian and Knightonian, for ladies. All have separate halls for meeting, a large, active membership, and appropriate libraries. Experience has demonstrated the value of these organizations in developing the literary taste, as well as ease and gracefulness of expression. A prize is offered to that representative of a literary society pronouncing the best original oration at the annual contest held in the chapel on Washington's birthday. Thi prize was won during the past year by G. C. Stansill.

LABORATORY.

The Physical Laboratory is provided with apparatus for the illustration of the laws of mechanics, heat, sound, light and electricity; the latter important subject being especially well represented by electric lamps of various styles and sizes, electric motor, magnetic telephones, telegraphic instruments, with lines, microphones, induction coils and instruments of measurement.

For aid in the study of Natural History, an excellent collection of plants and animals has been provided.

In addition to a large number of minerals and fossils already arranged in the cabinet, a new collection of minerals, ores and rocks has recently been received, a gift of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C. This is a valuable collection, containing one hundred and thirty representative specimens, and affords an excellent opportunity for practical study in geology and mineralogy.

A fine microscope, surveyor's instruments, including compass and transit, are among the important pieces of apparatus.

RELIGIOUS CULTURE.

If other things are important, this is more so. In all our intercourse with students, both in the class room and out, it is our purpose to emphasize this fact. The institution is not sectarian, but it is decidedly Christian in practice and principle. Students are required to attend chapel each school day and church on Sabbath morning. We have an Epworth League, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. With all these helpful influences we expect students who have spent some time with us to depart not only wiser but also better than they came.

GOVERNMENT.

[All regulations of the University relating to discipline will be in force during the intervals between the terms.]

The regulations of the University are few and simple, based upon the usages of Christian homes and refined society. They appeal to the stndent's honor and self-respect, insist upon regular habits, inculcate respect for law and order, and inspire a love for the gentler and unselfish qualities that characterize the true gentleman and refined lady. A faithful observance of the hours set apart for study, and regular and prompt attendance upon all classes, exercises, or other duties involved by the student's connection with the University, will be firmly insisted upon.

Students will be held responsible for damage done by them to any property of the University.

The association of ladies and gentlemen must be strictly in accordance with the regulations of the Faculty.

No meetings of students in the University buildings for the transaction of business, and no exercises whatever to which the public are admitted, whether by society or individual students, shall be held except with the consent of the Faculty previously obtained.

The regulations of tne University are printed in detail, together with such other information as may be of interest and benefit to new students, and may be obtained of any officer of the Faculty. It is desired that all students examine them carefully before matriculating, as all who become members of the school must agree to conform to them, and anyone who persists in their violation, or who, in the judgment of the Faculty, exerts a bad influence in the school, will be dismissed without hesitation.

EXPENSES.

The entire history of the University has been characterized by the efforts of its Trustees and Faculty to reduce the cost of a liberal education to such low figures that no student need be deterred on account of his financial condition. It is a source of great satisfaction that the efforts made in this direction have been successful, and that students in the humblest circumstances are here able to obtain a liberal education, and to prepare themselves for any of the practical and learned professions they may desire to pursue.

From the following table of expenses the actual outlay in any department at Athens may be readily computed:

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

The organization for the ensuing year is as follows: Walter Franklin, Class of '95, President, Athens, Tenn.; Jesse Grant Lowe, Class of '93; Vice-President, Jenkins, Tenn.; Louise Roeder, Class of '97, Secretary, Athens, Tenn.; Victor H. West, Class of '98, Treasurer, Chattanooga, Tenn.

ADDITIONAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Realizing the importance of thorough and systematic preparation for higher studies and extended courses, the Trustees have arranged for concerted and harmonious action among the principal seminaries and academies that are tributary to the University, by the adoption of a uniform course of study leading to the Freshman class in College of Liberal Arts.

Besides the Academic Department at Athens, the following schools are comprised in the association: Powell's Valley Academy, Well Spring, Tenn.; Wesleyan Academy, Chucky City, Tenn.; Roanoke Academy, Roanoke, Va.; Leicester Academy, Leicester, N. C.; Mt. Zion Academy, Mt. Zion, Ga.; Oakland Academy, Baileytown, Tenn.; Parrottsville Academy, Parrottsville, Tenn.; McLemoresville Academy, McLemoresville, Tenn.; Kingsley Academy, Bloomingdale, Tenn.; Mountain City Academy, Mountain City, Tenn.; Mallalieu Academy, Kinsey, Ala.; Graham Academy, Smyrna, N. C.; Murphy Collegiate Institute, Sevierville, Tenn.; Fair View College, Trap Hill, N. C.; Demorest Academy, Demorest, Ga.; Edwards Academy, White Pine, Tenn.; Dupont Academy, Dupont, Ga.; Holston Academy, Summertown, Tenn.; Woodland Academy, Woodland, Miss.

In the Academic Department three preparatory courses of study are offered—Classical, Philosophical and Scientific—of four years each, leading to corresponding courses in the College of Liberal Arts. Even if only a limited time is available for attendance at school, it will be found preferable in most cases to take the regular work.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS IN ENGLISH

are now practically uniform throughout the United States. The kind of preparation required has been agreed upon by the Joint Conference of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The following books are for general reading and composition work during this next year:

Tennyson's The Princess; DeQuincey's Flight of a Tartar Tribe; The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers; Pope's Translation of the Iliad, Books I, VI, XXII and XXIV; Dryden's Palamon and Arcite; Lowell's Vision of Sir Launfal; Goldsmith's Vicar of Wakefield; Scott's Ivanhoe; Cooper's Last of the Mohicans.

The student will be required to present evidence of a general knowledge of the subject matter, and to answer simple questions on the lives of the authors. The form of examination will usually be the writing of a paragraph or two on each of several topics to be chosen by the student from a considerable number—perhaps ten or fifteen—set before him in the examination paper. The treatment of these topics is designed to test the student's power of clear and accurate expression, and will call for only a general knowledge of the substance of the books.

In addition to the above the following works must be carefully studied: Milton's Paradise Lost, Books I and II; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Shakespeare's Macbeth; Macaulay's Essay on Addison.

The examination will be upon subject matter, form and structure. In addition the student may be required to answer questions involving the essentials of English Grammar, and on the leading facts in these periods of English literary history to which the prescribed books belong.

NOTE.—No candidate will be admitted to college classes whose work is notably defective in English in point of spelling, punctuation, idiom, or division into paragraphs.

The following is the required list for general reading and composition work for 1901: Tennyson's The Princess; Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice; George Eliot's Silas Marner; The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers; Coleridge's Rime of the Ancient Mariner; Pope's Translation of the Iliad, Books I, VI, XXII and XXIV; Goldsmith's Vicar of Wakefield; Scott's Ivanhoe; Cooper's Last of the Mohicans.

The following is the list for careful study for 1901: Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Shakespeare's Macbeth; Milton's Minor Poems; Macaulay's Essay on Milton; Macaulay's Essay on Addison.

A select course may be pursued by all who desire, provided the work chosen meets the approval of the Faculty, and the hours of recitation do not conflict.

Reports of scholarship and deportment are made out for each student at the close of the term.

A diploma will be conferred by order of the Board of Trustees upon any student completing a prescribed academic course.

On presentation of such diploma, the student may enter the Freshman class without examination.

MUSIC.

PIANO-FORTE.

The ordinary course of study for the piano embraces the rudiments of music and harmony, the practice of scales, chords and arpeggio; Etudes by Duvernoy, Loeschorn, Mason, Heller, Cramer, Moscheles and Clementi; the Sonata form of composition; Selections from Clementi, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Chopin, Liszt, Rubenstein and distinguished modern composers.

The teacher's course is comprised in the above, with such variation as seems essential.

The amateur course for the piano provides for those who desire to become moderately good performers, but who cannot afford the time necessary for a thorough course. These pupils are assisted to intelligent understanding of all the music submitted to them.

No inflexible course of study can be given, but a selection is followed conscientiously which seems best adapted to the pupil's ability and needs.

VOICE STUDY

Teaches pure tone without force. The ear is taught to recognize true tone and the voice to be governed by that knowledge.

Inequalities of the voice (called registers) made even by proper practice.

Breaks in the voice made smooth by a graduated change in ascending the scale.

Solfeggio and vocalization. Songs are selected from oratorio, opera, and the best of modern composition. English, French and German are used as advisable for the pupil's progress.

STUDY OF THE VIOLIN.

The course followed includes Hohmann's five books, Kayser's etudes, tone pictures for violin and piano, easy classics, duets and pieces adapted to pupil's ability. In the higher grades, Kreutzer's and Viotti's studies, De-Beriot airs, etc.

The study of the violin is the most efficient preparation to the study of the piano, organ and singing, giving the pupil at an early stage more power of self help.

To encourage violin study, classes will be organized at $3 per month, and those studying the piano, organ, or singing, are strongly advised to avail themselves of the advantage to be derived from them.

Violins can be rented for a small sum to members of the class who do not wish to purchase an instrument.

MANDOLIN AND GUITAR.

With these instruments studies and pieces adapted to pupil's requirements are given, with frequent opportunities for the practice of ensemble playing.

ART.

A noteworthy evidence of the influence of higher education is the marked interest in the practice and development of the Fine Arts. Culture is becoming more generally diffused, refined taste in literature and art is no longer a rarity, and such are the requirements of the present that some knowledge of the principles of drawing and painting, which was formerly regarded as an embellishment, is now considered essential to a complete education.

Aside from questions of refinement and taste, proficiency in artistic studies opens up a wide field for remunerative employment. Photography has not yet superseded, if it ever will, the skill of the artist.

To meet the demand for the practice and cultivation of the Fine Arts, the University offers instruction under an artist of recognized ability in the following classes: Oil and Water Colors; Pastel, Crayon and Charcoal; Freehand Drawing; China Painting; Portraiture in Crayon and Pastel.

Students will also be directed to the best works treating of the great works of art, the history and schools of art, and the lives of the painters. An annual exhibition of the work done by the students is held during the last week of the collegiate year.

ELOCUTION AND ORATORY.

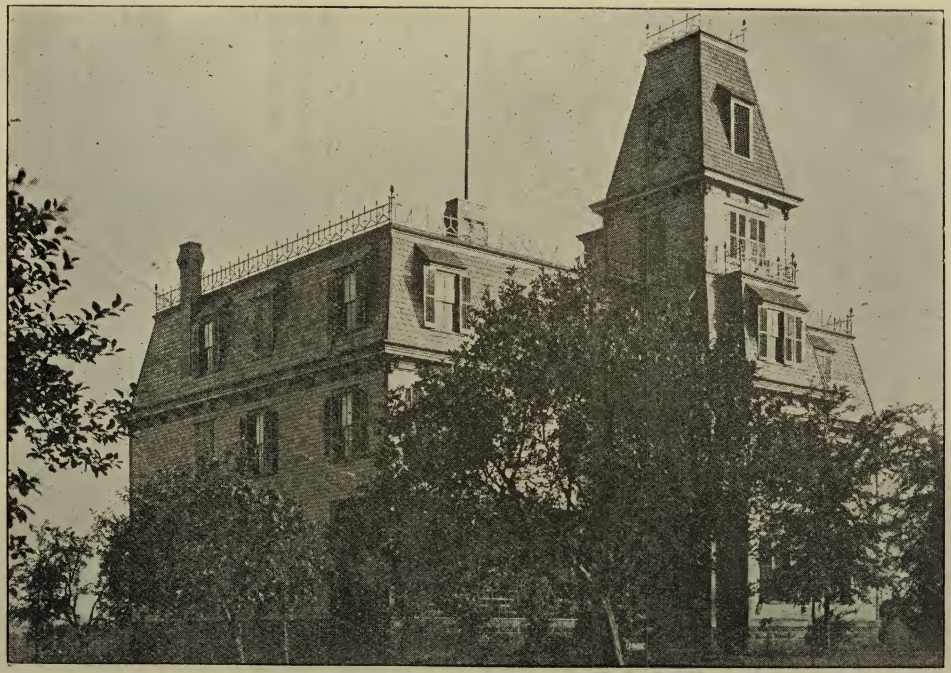
It is our purpose to teach elocution as an art, resting upon absolute laws of nature, explained and illustrated by exact rules of science, and to give a thorough and systematic training upon all the principles upon which the art is based.

Each principle is presented as a vocal culture, then as an element of expression as found in nature. The voice is developed to produce the elements, the ear trained to detect them, and the mind educated to apply them in the delivery of all styles of composition.

Each member of the graduating class is required to give a programme of readings and recitations before an audience of invited guests. These are occasions of marked interest, the performers always being greeted by refined and cultivated audiences.

BUSINESS.

To meet the wants of those desiring to fit themselves for business life instruction is offered in Bookkeeping, Science of Accounts, Correspondence, Commercial Law, Legal and Business Forms, Banking, Business Practice, Stenography and Typewriting. Special attention will be given to preparing students to teach these branches in our public schools and acadamies.



THE RITTER HOME, ATHENS, TENN.

RITTER INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

MRS. F. V. CHAPMAN, Superintendent.

Ritter Home is a Hall built for the accommodation of young ladies attending Grant University, and located upon its campus. Is is new, attractive and modern, in all its appliances. The parlors, library, dining room, study room, sewing room and bedrooms are as beautiful as are to be found in any young ladies' school in the South.

LOCATION.

The location is ideal; in the uplands, just at the base of the Tennessee Mountains. From the windows of Ritter Home can be seen the mountains of three states. No more delightful place can be found for students who cannot endure the rigors of a northern climate, but do require the tonic of the mountain air.

It is not necessary to enumerate the advantages afforded for literary work at Grant University. Its pupils are its best recommendation. Nowhere in the land is there a more devoted or self-sacrificing body of teachers; nowhere a more earnest and aspiring body of students. This is shown in class work, in enthusiastic literary societies, in Bible classes and in Epworth League work. Grant University is a Christian school under the supervision of the Methodist Episcopal church.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

The Methodism of the South may not be rich in this world's goods, but it has what is better by far, aspirations for growth in every direction. Educated men and women will give the church position and influence for good. Education is necessary for individual success. In these days of applied sciences and complicated and delicate machinery, even the farmer and the artisan must be educated to be most successful in subduing nature to his service.

THE INDUSTRIAL FEATURE.

Girls have the same aspirations, and the same right to the best opportunities, that boys have; but an education costs money, and a large proportion of earnest girls have not much money. It is to meet this difficulty and to give girls a chance equal to that of their brothers as well as to give approved training in domestic industries, that Ritter Home is conducted on the co-operative plan. The members of the household have their daily duties, which are so distributed and directed as not to interfere with the school work. In connection with these duties correct housekeeping and plain cooking are taught. An hour each day is given to plain sewing and dressmaking, under the instruction of a thoroughly competent teacher, until a certificate of proficiency is secured. Each girl can put her time upon her own wardrobe if she wish, so that she can be well dressed at the bare expense of material. The Taylor system of cutting and fitting is taught without extra charge.

THE REASONABLE RATES.

The number in the Home is now so large that a limited number of girls, should their parents so request, can be excused from their share of domestic employments. To such the usual price of ten dollars per month for board and room, including bedding, heating and light, will be charged. To those taking their share in the domestic duties, averaging an hour per day, a reduction from this price will be allowed of three dollars per month.

This charge does not include tuition in Grant University, which is $6.00 per term in the Preparatory Department, and $10.00 in the college classes, half these rates being remitted to ministers' children, and those preparing for missionary and deaconess work. Added to this is an incidental fee of $3.00 per term for all pupils. For information in regard to tuition, and the arrangement of all bills for the same, application must be made to the University authorities.

UNIFORM DRESS.

At the request of many patrons of the school and by the unanimous vote of the pupils, a uniform dress has been adopted for street and church. A sample of materials and directions for making will be sent to each pupil applying for them to the superintendent, Mrs. F. V. Chapman.

Should parents prefer, the goods will be furnished at wholesale prices to pupils after they arrive at the school. The suits can then be made in the sewing room, under the direction of an experienced dressmaker who is at the head of the sewing department, at no expense beyond that for material.

A CHRISTIAN HOME.

Parents sending their daughters to Ritter Home are assured that they will be cared for, morally and physically, as they would be in their own homes. Applications are so much more numerous than the house will accommodate that it will be well to apply early. Methodists will do well to consult their pastors as to the comparative merits of schools. When girls are in the formative period of life, it is very important that all the influences about them be favorable to culture and refinement, and that they receive a strong impulse to useful, unselfish and religious lives. Nowhere in the south are the best influences more potent in the formation of character than in Ritter Home, at Grant University, Athens, Tennessee.

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY.

GENERAL STATEMENT.

The School of Theology of Grant University is an institution for ministerial training, established on the same basis as other theological schools of the Church.

The advance of general education and culture, the increasing demand for thoroughly educated and earnest ministers, both for home and foreign fields of labor, the widening of Christian thought, the constant improvement in means and methods of Christian activity, are among the imperative reasons for special training on the part of those called of God to the sacred office of the Christian ministry; and the aim of this instruction is to equip young men by a broad and thorough scholarship that they may be able to serve in every good work as the Church may demand. The following extracts from the Discipline give the voice of the Church concerning such schools:

All candidates for our ministry are earnestly advised to attend one or more of the Literary or Theological institutions of our Church before applying to an Annual Conference for admission on trial.—Appendix, p. 400.

Our Theological Schools, whose Professors are nominated or confirmed by the Bishops, exist for the benefit of the whole Church, and it is the duty of the presiding elders and pastors to direct the attention of candidates for our ministry to the advantages afforded in these institutions.—Paragraph 344, section 3, page 183.

A Bishop may leave without appointment a preacher on trial, or a member of an Annual Conference, desiring to attend any of our Literary or Theological Seminaries, whenever he shall be requested to do so by the Annual Conference, and it shall seem to him expedient; provided, however, that the time thus spent in school shall not count on that required for probation in the Annual Conference.—Paragraph 162, pages 102 and 103.

The General Conference has decided that the certificates of Theological Schools may be accepted by an Annual Conference "as equivalent to that of its own Committee of Examination."

ADMISSION.

Each candidate for admission to the regular Triennial Course producing a degree of A. B., Ph. B. or B. S. from a reputable college, provided the course taken has included Greek, will be admitted without examination; otherwise he must satisfy the Faculty upon examination that he has had classical and literary training sufficient to pursue, without difficulty, the designated studies. Arrangements have been made by the Faculty so that matriculants who are deficient in Greek and Latin may pursue these studies under competent instructors.

Candidates for admission who have no classical training, but have a knowledge of the common English branches, will be admitted to the English Course.

Applicants who are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, must each bring a certificate of license to preach, or a recommendation from a quarterly conference, signed by the pastor and presiding elder.

The form of recommendation authorized by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is as follows:

"We, the members of the Quarterly Conference of————————————— hereby express our judgment that————————————————————is called of God to the work of the ministry, and we recommend him as a suitable person to become a student in the School of Theology of Grant University."

Applicants from other Churches will present the certificate usually given by the denomination to which they belong.

GRADUATION.

The degree of S. T. B. (Sacræ Theologiæ Baccalaureus) will be conferred upon students who have received the degree of A. B. or an equivalent degree from an institution of recognized grade, and have completed the prescribed course of study.

Students not graduates of colleges, but whose linguistic attainments and general scholarship have enabled them to be admitted to the regular course, will, after passing a satisfactory examination, receive the diploma of the institution. The usual fee for diploma must be deposited with the Treasurer one month prior to graduation.

AUXILIARY FACILITIES.

LIBRARY.

The valuable collection of works in various languages, bequeathed by the late Prof. J. Clarke Hagey, D. D., is especially rich in the means of exegetical study. Additions are being made to this valuable library each year.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given before the school by eminent ministers of our own and other churches. During the past year the Rev. Bishop Daniel A. Goodsell, LL. D., has delivered an interesting and instructive course. In addition to this the students have opportunities of hearing the leading speakers of the nation in the lecture courses of the city.

EXPENSES.

Tuition and rooms are free. An incidental fee of $10 per year is paid by each student. Those rooming in the building pay an additional fee of $1.00 per month for the purpose of caring for the rooms. This fee may be paid in work. The rooms are furnished with the exception of bed clothing. Houses for families may be obtained for low rent. Students board in clubs at a cost of $1.50 to $2.00 per week.

Loans may be obtained from the Board of Education, and there are opportunities for supplying churches in or near the city. Students who are industrious and economical usually succeed in "working their way" through the course if they have no other means.

LOCATION.

Chattanooga is a favorable location for a School of Theology.

First.—It is central. Parts of seven states may be seen from the top of Lookout Mountain. Twelve different lines of railroad terminate in Chattanooga, and the Tenneseee River runs through the city.

Second.—It is healthful. According to the report of the Surgeon General of the United States, Chattanooga is the healthiest city of its size in the South, and one of the healthiest in the Nation.

Third.—The M. E. Church is strong here. She has one central church of some six hundred members, and seven smaller churches in the city and suburbs. These smaller churches, and a number of stations and circuits in the surrounding country, are supplied by students.

The theological building is one of the finest in the south, and occupies the most prominent location of all the public buildings in Chattanooga, commanding an unobstructed view of Lookout Mountain, Mission Ridge, and the National and Confederate Cemeteries.

The school opens October 17, 1899, and closes May 15, 1900.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.

Located in Chattanooga, known as the Chattanooga Medical College, and embracing the services of about thirty instructors in the faculty and teaching corps. It occupies the west end of the University building, located on McCallie Avenue and Oak Street. This is a magnificent structure, and splendidly arranged for medical teaching and medical college purposes. It is one of the handsomest of southern medical colleges, and modern in all its equipment. Its campus extends through an entire block, from McCallie Avenue on the south to Oak Street on the north.

The Medical College has reached its eleventh year in a most prosperous condition, having enjoyed patronizing support from a vast scope of territory, extending from Nova Scotia and Canada to Texas, including many of the intervening states. Last year its matriculation list bore one hundred and sixty-eight names, and it sent forth a fine graduating class of thirty-one. The outlook is bright for an increasing patronage during the coming season.

The College is fully equipped for training students in all the branches customary in medical educational work, including Practical Anatomy, Laboratory Drill and Clinical Experience. The whole aim of its Faculty is to afford the best attainable inculcation of practical minutiæ, and thus thoroughly to indoctrinate its pupils for capable and creditable performance of future daily duties in professional life.

This College issues a large special catalogue of its own, which can be had upon application, and wherein is fully set forth every requirement for matriculation and graduation, as well as the curriculum in detail, and a full list of the faculty, students and alumni in this department of the University. Therefore further information is unnecessary here, but it may be obtained promptly, when desired, by addressing

E. A. Cobleigh, M. D., Dean,
Chattanooga, Tenn.

SCHOOL OF LAW.

The Trustees and Faculty take pleasure in announcing that the second session of the Department of Law will open Monday, October 2. Judge Lewis Shepherd has been elected as Dean of the school. There will be associated with him eleven other representatives of the Bar of Chattanooga, thus enabling the student to come in contact with teachers who are at their best in their professional career, and who are able to impart both a knowledge of the law and the enthusiasm of men who are engaged in the actual daily application of the principles which they teach. The plan of organization proposes:

(1) To bring within the reach of all students the opportunity to acquire a legal education by arranging a course of study that shall embrace all the subjects that are essential to a comprehensive knowledge of the law.

(2) To furnish the student with the means of a full and complete preparation for a professional career by giving him the opportunity to combine the study of the law with the practical workings of the office and the court.

(3) To confer upon the student who shall accomplish the course of study the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

The School has many advantages by reason of its location. Courts are in session almost every week day, so that students may observe the work in all kinds of litigation. The climatic conditions of Chattanooga are favorable to study, the average annual temperature being 60 degrees. The location of the city is high above sea level, among picturesque mountains, bordering the Tennessee river, affording scenery which is universally admitted to be unsurpassed on the continent. The University building stands on an eminence overlooking the entire landscape, and yet is located in the immediate vicinity of the courts and the law offices. In close proximity to the campus are the historic points of Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Orchard Knob, National Cemetery, while the great Chickamauga Park is only seven miles distant, connected, however, by electric railroad with the city. Chattanooga is the chief railroad center of the South. The moral sentiment of the city is good. The church advantages offered here are excellent.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS.

The course of study is two years. Students may be admitted, however, upon examination, to the senior year. A Moot Court is held once every two weeks. Lectures are delivered at night, thus enabling students to have opportunity to attend the sessions of the Federal and State Courts. A daily Quiz class is maintained at four o'clock p. m. The school year is divided into two terms, the first term beginning October 2, 1899, and the second term beginning February 1, 1900. Commencement exercises June 1, 1900. Tuition, $50.00 per year, payable one-half at the beginning of the first term and one-half at the beginning of the second term. A matriculation fee ($5.00) is paid but once during the entire course. All the expenses are low. Good board and room, including fuel and light, can be had at $2.50 to $4.00 per week.

The Law Department issues a catalogue containing complete information concerning the advantages offered by this school. Sent on application.

The school opens its doors to all classes of students, without distinction of sex. The only qualities necessary are sufficient mental attainments and good moral character. No fixed rule is established as to age of applicants, but the Faculty reserves the right to reject any student not old enough to pursue the course with advantage.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS, CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

MOUNTAIN CITY BUSINESS COLLEGE.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT OF THE GRANT UNIVERSITY.

This is not a "department" in the sense usually applicable when speaking of commercial work in the literary schools, but a complete and thoroughly equipped Business College, with every facility afforded by any other commercial school. The teachers are all specialists in their work, fitted for it by special training and experience in business, as well as experience in teaching in leading Business Colleges.

The work of this department is divided into two courses: The Business Course and the Shorthand Course. The Business Course includes Double Entry Bookkeeping, Business Correspondence, Commercial Correspondence, Commercial Arithmetic, Practical Grammar, Business Forms, Penmanship Commercial Law, Banking, Spelling and Office Practice. The Shorthand Course includes Shorthand, Typewriting, Business Correspondence, Grammar, Punctuation, Business Forms, Legal Forms, Spelling, Penmanship, Manifolding, Letter Copying and Office Dictation.

Students entering either course of this department advance as rapidly as their ability and application make it possible, since the work is largely individual.

Special advantages are offered the students in boarding, which, together with furnished rooms, can be had at a price much below that found elsewhere. In being able to limit the expense of living, and at the same time to give all the benefits of a business education which are gained only in a large busine-s center, we claim unsurpassed facilities.

Write for separate illustrated catalogue, which is mailed free upon application, and gives very full information relative to the work of this College. Address

Chattanooga's Great Department Store

Like the great stores of the big cities, owes its extreme popularity and prosperity

To Its Liberal Prices.

WE believe the modern successful method of doing business is selling many goods at small profits rather than a few goods at big profits. This is why this store has grown so fast, so successful, so popular, so complete. We sell everything, and all sorts of men's wear, in which department we solicit the patronage of the students of this school, insuring them perfect satisfaction for less outlay than they would pay elsewhere.

Especially Men's Clothing

The Wildman ONE PRICE CLOTHING CO.

There is much difference in ready-made Clothing. Some fit and some don't. The Cloth is not the only thing to be considered in the purchase of a suit of clothes, because some manufacturers pay three times as much for the making of a garment as others do. Our clothes fit and hold their shape because we pay enough for them to get good clothes. We charge just enough, too, but not too much. We could not have built up so large a business if our prices were not just and reasonable.

We give a special discount to ministers and university students, and cordially solicit your patronage.
